

Life is Like a Box of Chocolates

(This article has been published in the South China Morning Post.)

4B Yip Man Fung, Cally

I have a chocolate box in my bedroom. It contains many different kinds of chocolate and I never know whether the one I choose to eat will be bitter or sweet.

Life is the same. People say: 'You never know what will happen next.'

Everything in life is unexpected. Even when you are well-prepared, a little thing can change the whole situation.

Therefore, I appreciate every little thing I do because I understand that life is like a box of chocolates.

If it is sweet, I enjoy what I can.

If it is bitter, all I have to do is wait for a sweet one to come along.