

My Mum and Sis are My Role Models

4E Pang Wing Yin, Alice

Many people like idolizing famous people and following them blindly, but are they really good models? In my opinion, famous people may not be good models.

Who are good role models in your mind? I think good role models should have good behaviour. They should be persevering, kind and concerned about others.

Some people say that people who are famous have good image and behaviour so they are good role models. In my opinion, such a view is unjustifiable. There are lots of people who are famous but with bad behaviour. For example, Edison is a well-known person but he behaves badly. He had sexual relationship with many actresses. Everyone knows him but he has a bad image. Take another example, the famous Prince Charles of England was caught cheating on his wife. He was unfaithful. He has set a bad example to the next generation. Therefore, he is not a role model.

Some people who are not famous but they have the characteristics of being good role models. For example, my mother is as kind as an angel. She always helps her friends and she is very concerned about our family. I think she is a role model but she isn't famous. Also, my sister is persevering. She ran very slowly in a running race but she did not give up. At last, she finished the race. She has good behaviour too. She never tells lies and she is a real model to me.

All in all, famous people may not be good role models. Some famous people have bad behaviour. Therefore we should be careful when we choose our role models.