

Helping Hand

(This article has been published in the South China Morning Post.)

There are many ways to help the needy. When I was in Form Two, I joined a voluntary programme.

Once, I visited a centre for developmentally delayed people and created a wall painting with them.

I was a bit nervous at first, but they were very enthusiastic.

Now I have to prepare for my public examination.

After that, I hope to take part in more voluntary work.
